- We truly live our personal values in all we do
- We're passionate about our community of high calibre talent
- We demonstrate emotional intelligence in how we do business

Take a look at these

Here's a selection of our clients and some of the briefs we've worked on.

“ Harriet and Jane really took time to understand the organisation, the role and my working style to thoughtfully present candidates who were technically able, credible and a strong cultural fit. They also did this super quickly and in a fun and engaging way. It was immediately before Christmas and I'm sure they were swamped with other roles but as a client, they created the perception that my role was their priority. They will be my first call for future requirements and I wholeheartedly recommend them to others. ”
